

[Abstract] ABSTRACT

A method of producing a sample [(10)] of a treatment outcome on a textile specimen is described. [A] The textile specimen in the form of a web section [(1)] along its full production width [(B)] is provided with a leader [(6)] on one end [(2)] located in the longitudinal direction of the web section[(1)], and a trailer at the other end[(3) it is provided with a trailer (7), and then it]. The specimen is passed through a treatment medium in a production installation for treatment in the direction of feed[(8)].

5